

KEITH FRICKEY, DVM

Emergency

Dr. Keith Frickey is a native of southern Louisiana and a graduate of LSU. He has practiced most of his career in emergency medicine and has concentrated his last 15 years in emergency & critical care. He loves all aspects of the field and especially working with clients to help them do the best they can for their pets' health and recovery. In his free time, he enjoys bike riding, fishing, long walks and, most of all, playing with his new best friend, Guinness. Dr. Frickey is currently training Guinness, and himself, in search and rescue. As Guinness was a rescue dog, he feels that devoting their time and energy (which Guinness has a lot of) to helping others is the best way for them both to repay this gift they received of being together.
